Dear Florist

When you're making up bouquets and bridal wreaths and boutonnieres today, please assemble a large horseshoe of orchids for each of our Glades hospitals, who are observing National Hospital Week.

Attach a card, please, to each batch of orchids, saying "Thanks, many thanks, from the community you serve."

We of the Glades are lucky to have our two hospitals—Belle Glade Memorial and Everglades Memorial—and the reminder came even more forcibly this week as we observed tragically turn to joy in an accident at Everglades Memorial.

There, a three-year-old boy literally was snatched from death back to life, after his near-electrocution, because of the combined work of the hospital staff and what they call a "stand-by facility"—an oxygen tent.

We plead guilty to joining occasionally the general grumbling about the high cost of hospital care.

We'd feel a lot guiltier if the oxygen tent—which is one of the many extra facilities that make hospital care expensive—hadn't been there when that little boy needed it.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers

WASHINGTON — Several months ago Secretary of State John Foster Dulles issued a warning that under certain conditions the U.S. would be forced into an "agonizing re-appraisal" of our aid program to Europe. It seems to be that time may be at hand, and that our nation may be in urgent need of new allies.

What has happened in Indo-China and at Geneva, according to clearest reports, make it apparent that some of our historic allies—Britain, France, and Italy—cannot be entirely relied upon to stand with us in re-evaluation of determination to oppose Communist aggression.

The need which is most apparent is to bring the nations and the peoples of North America and South America closer together in all realms of international intercourse—trade, culture, and mutual security. We must elevate our Latin neighbors to the role of most-favored and most-cherished allies. As someone else said, the time has come to worry less about the pasture and more about the barn and the "Big House."

Our dependable allies in Europe seem to be Turkey and Greece, and in Asia, South Korea, the Philippines, Pakistan and Japan. But we must not remain preoccupied abroad; we must realize that national interest lies in closer ties within the hemisphere.

News Notes Off The Cuff: Hundreds who have written me on the subject will be pleased to hear that the Senate finally adopted a resolution establishing a Capitol Prayer Room for members of Congress . . . Florida Future Farmers, one of the state's finest magazines for one of the finest groups in America, gave me guest editorial assignment in the recent (Spring 1954) issue . . . Bureau of the Budget and Dept. of Army new are supporting my bill, introduced at the request of veterans organizations, to establish a new national cemetery in central or east Florida . . . It looks good now for continued development of the giant Homestead Air Base and Congress likely will approve its construction program, held up for several months.

WATERMELON MAN: Did you ever see anybody happier than a cracker with a watermelon? That was Congressman Syd Herlong when he gave two of Lake County's finest watermelons to President Eisenhower this week. The two huge melons were a gift from the Leesburg Chamber of Commerce—to let the President know what sort of melons will be available at their annual Watermelon Festival on Wednesday.

POPULAR VOICE: It may have escaped most of some at the Florida "he-coon," Congressman Bob Sikes, is in great demand as a statewide convention speaker. He recently made speeches before the Florida National Guard Association at Orlando; the Junior Chamber of Commerce convention in Pensacola; the State County Commissioners Association in Daytona Beach. On Friday of this week, (14th) he will address the State Forestry Association at Gainesville; on the 17th he will speak at the state convention of the Lions Clubs in Orlando, and on the 27th he will be principal speaker at the Business and Professional Women's convention in Pensacola.

BIG PARADE: Somewhere in the neighborhood of 700 Florida School Football boys and girls were in town last Friday and Saturday. They were a part of a crowd of 30,000 who paraded, saw the sights, and otherwise enjoyed a trip to Washington as a reward for their fine work. Eight of them received gold medals for bravery. One of the eight was William F. Gurney, 12, West Palm Beach, who saved two smaller children from an oncoming train at great risk to his own life. Highlight of the Washington trip was the parade, listed by the AAA as being larger than the Presidential inaugural parades—and well it might have been, too. Thirty thousand kids and 75 bands took four and a half hours to march past the White House.

MORE LATIN AMERICA: Senator George Smathers had a lot to say last week about our Latin American relations. In a brief appraisal of the weak ties between the Pan-American relations, he said there appears no

"AND WHOEVER SIVES TO ONE OF THESE LITTLE ONES EVEN A CUP OF COLD WATER SHALL BE A DISCIPLE, TRULY, I SAY TO YOU HE SHALL NOT LOSE HIS REWARD."

BY SCHATZI

In the face of the Mystery of the Cracked Windshields, which our owners from coast to coast have tried to solve, I think I've found the answer.

Some weeks ago, out west, cars by the dozens began turning up with pitted or cracked windshields, and the cause was attributed to everything but dogs clawing at the glass.

The rage even got to Florida, when over on the coast and in Miami, car-owners claimed their windshields looked like the relief map of Asia.

Nobody would listen to the still small voices of garage men around the country, who said a lot of cracks and holes in windshields had been there for months, caused by such things as b-b shot, gravel, etc. After the story made the headlines, car-owners kept seeing myriad holes put there by mysterious forces.

Now next to the weekly which records my verbal paw-prints on the sands of time, my favorite is one out in Nevada, called "The mad scientist" Enterpriser, at Virginia City. Its history goes back to Mark Twain, and its present form is nationally known for a brand of unrestricted journalism which produces ads that read:

"Virginia City's FAVORITE Stuccoing Rendezvous — The Delta Saloon."

"The Mesa. Supper for Del and beast . . ."

"I hit the jackpot at Harrah's Club in Reno . . ."

(I hastily point out here that gambling is legal in Nevada. As a former resident, that's why I live in Florida.)

And for headlines like this: "Love Merchants Routed In Vegas Pre-Primary Raid" and . . .

"The Pistol Packing Madames III"

Well, to go back through a field of quotation marks, I started to say that it's my favorite weekly next to G.O. because it also is somewhat staff-assisted by a canine, Mr. T-Bone Twister. Undoubtedly that helps make it a very readable newspaper.

The Enterpriser's theory about cracked windshields is that local auto glass was shattered by high frequency sound waves from a nearby airfield.

"High frequency sound waves," emphasizes the Enterpriser, "are the sort now available to human hearing but which can be detected by tall dogs standing on stilts."

Or, I might say in agreement, low dogs standing on extra-tall stilts.

In any case, watch that next sound wave . . . it could be a glass-smasher.

"wifful neglect" of Latin America political development "by rather a failure to move, at the highest level of the government, in the directions our experts know and point out as logical and desirable." The Senator said in part that the U. S. is not employing to the best advantage the value of the Export-Import Bank with its resources as a builder of better political as well as economic relations.

NON-POLITICAL: "Christian Ethics in Government" will be the subject of a talk by Congressman Billy Matthews next week. He will address a city-wide dinner meeting of Christian laymen, May 19 at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Alexandria, Va.

ROBSEVATIONS

By BENJAMIN S. ROBERTS

Compromise is the basis of Democracy. Compromise, however, is the sign and admission of weakness to the Communist leaders in this world. To a Communist there is no compromise: at home liquidations, abroad assassinations are the methods of their control.

Lenin did not sit at conference with Kereinsky or Trotsky to work out a solution for his differences with them. They were expelled and liquidated in time. Stalin looked for no means of living with men who were good Russians but non-conforming Communists — he purged them.

Contrary to the doctrine that is expressed by liquidating those who do not conform is our method in the United States of settling differences by finding a common meeting ground in the midst of differences and working out a solution from that point. The original concept of our Government as envisioned by Hamilton, Jefferson, Madison and Washington centered upon mutual promises to abide by a decision. The Constitution when ratified in 1789 provided for such elasticity in our Government.

Since that time the flexibility in our system has provided strength in expansion, in civil dissension, in economic ventures and, up until the coming of the Communists, provided ground work for international relations.

Not now. Compromise in the Communist book is defined as derogatory commitments, prejudicial surrenders and concessions. The very word "compromise," when it is used by our Department heads, is intended to express mutuality of agreement. The Kremlin headlines use the word derogatorily to mean surrender. Their purpose is to advantage their cause in the propaganda that a controlled press feeds to an enslaved people. Compromise in Korea or Indo-China is not appeasement in our book. It will be construed as weakness by Moscow if we offer any "compromises" on these issues. We had best talk mutual promises to abide by decisions or settlements by consent through mutual concessions — being sure they are mutual — rather than giving their propaganda machine the opportunity to embarrass our intentions by misconstruing our wording.

GLADES-GROWN DINNER AN INSTITUTION, FAST BECOMING A TRADITION

HEAD TABLE at Glades-Grown Dinner included (l-r): Mrs. R. L. Eaton, of Bradenton, mother of Mrs. George C. Young; George C. Young, Mrs. R. W. Lanier, and Mrs. George Wedgworth.

Originated In
1949; Annual C-C
Event Ever Since

This Year's Dinner
Held At Legion Hall
With 250 Attending

OTHER HALF of head table started with Mr. and Mrs. Wedgworth (l) and went down the line with the principal speaker, Harold Colee, Mrs. Harold Rabin, Harold Rabin, and Mrs. H. O. Carlton.

BY JANE RIEKER

Institutions and traditions are slow to come by in newly settled places, and in the Glades, events symbolic of the area are only now getting into the "institution" category.

The bean festivals of the past have grown into the Everglades Fair of today, as one example.

For a Glades original, with as little "outside fixings" as possible, however, the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce's annual Glades Grown Dinner is the leading candidate.

Originated 1949

It was originated in 1949, the first and the genuine Glades-Grown dinner.

The idea has been used with great success by other organizations. The Business & Professional Women, for instance, have given several all-Glades meals as the high spot in their district meetings which bring BPW members from the coastal section of West Palm Beach. To this day, women from Boynton Beach, Riviera, West Palm Beach, and the rest of the coast who have partaken of Glades-raised food lick their chops daintily at the thought of it.

Many groups coming into the Glades for a meeting are served Glades beans, corn, potatoes, beef, fruits, or other food. But there is only one "Glades-Grown Dinner," which is why it is by now an institution.

It was Junius Harris who started the first rumblings toward a "Glades-Grown Dinner," according to Edwina Young, secretary of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce.

That first dinner, with J. Tom Watson, Jr., Douglas Wooten, and R. E. Hotard as planning committee, succeeded, or rather replaced, the annual meeting of the C of C, held in City Hall.

Annual meetings no doubt will be held so long as an organization shall live—but, theorized the "granddaddies" of the Glades-Grown Dinner, a meal typifying the product of the area, combined with the annual meeting, would be a much more attractive way of making the annual report.

Watson First

At the first Glades-Grown Dinner—Annual Meeting, Attorney Gen. J. Tom Watson, Sr., offered a few appropriate remarks. There was no formal speech.

The next year, J. Kennard Johnson, general manager of the Miami Chamber of Commerce, was the speaker; 1951, ex-Gov. Doyle E. Carlton; 1952, Carl Anthony, Jr., of West Palm Beach, and in 1953, Earl Brown, president of the state C of C.

Throughout those years of Glades-Grown Dinners, and up to and including the most recent, the 1954 edition on May 6, the Belle Glade C-C has welcomed the Chambers of Commerce of surrounding cities, invited various state and county officials, and any other Glades resident who wanted to partake of the representative meal.

Various dinners have featured crates of Glades mixed vegetables for guests of honor to trundle home with them, or vegetable corages, or elaborate C-C reminders such as last year's miniature table displays of local businesses.

At Legion Hall

This year, the site of the Glades-Grown Dinner was the American Legion Hall, rather than the Country Club—and some 250 diners came to enjoy the Glades meal, hear Harold Colee, executive vice president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, and view the new color movie of Belle Glade in the "My Home Town" TV series.

Mrs. Mary Foy, C of C board member, was chairman of the dinner, which was prepared by St. Phillip's Altar Society. The Garden Club, under the direction of Mrs. Abbie Zumpf, decorated the hall and the tables with Glades foliage and Glades vegetable centerpieces. Bob Lanier m.c'd the event, with special music by Dalton Harrison, Ben Rider, Bill Thiebaud, and Lanier, accompanied by Mrs. Ann Pipes. C of C and civic officials headed the half-dozen dinner guests.

On the menu were turkey, potatoes, beans, vegetable salad, and strawberry shortcake.

And just as delectable, perhaps, were Colee's words, fitting like a glove the occasion of the sixth annual Glades-Grown Dinner.

"Nowhere else in the world is agricultural transition of greater significance taking place than in this Everglades region . . . No power I know anything of stands between you and the realization of your economic dreams

. . . You perhaps wonder sometimes whether full development of the Everglades would not be a mistake. I am here to tell you that it will be a mistake not to fully develop the Everglades."

In these and other of Colee's remarks lay the reason that the Glades-Grown Dinner, emblematic of achievement in the Glades, has developed into an annual observance—an institution—and is rapidly becoming an area tradition.

The "Write" Prescription

Noticed three half-finished letters lying on the counter down at Jones' Drug Store last week. "Writing three at once, Doc!" I asked.

"No," Doc said, "you are you and the rest of the town. Those are for the boys from our town who are at the National Guard encampment."

"Everyone who comes in adds a line or two, and when a couple of pages are filled, I mail them. That way the boys hear from folks who might not write otherwise. They sure do enjoy it."

HERE'S HOW AMAZING MOTALOY WORKS:

Motoloy tabs are placed in the fuel tank of any vehicle with an internal combustion engine. The tabs are activated as the vehicle is being driven. The friction of the Motoloy tabs in the fuel tank and the knocking of the fuel begins a chemical process which passes through to the combustion chambers and cylinders, where the flash fire and intense heat creates a reaction dissolving hard carbon. Then, a metallic plating is deposited on the surfaces of the pistons cylinder walls, rings and valves and is gradually worked into any pores, as well as pitted or scratched spots. This is an anti-friction plating which provides a smoother, more powerful and quieter engine.

MAY DAY

Fun, fun and benefits of play in fresh air and sunshine. The theme "April Showers" depicted by songs, folk dances and singing games, presented a view of the healthful outdoor activities.

Professional

The theme song "April Showers" started the festivities, followed by the professional, led by heralders Jonita Turner and Jimmie Johnson. They were followed by the court jesters, Russell Burry, in costume, followed by the crown bearer, John Diamond, who carried the crown on a white satin pillow. Following the crown bearer, came King Ronnie Thomas, resplendent in velvet cape and the royal crown. Next came the attendants; the King's attendants in their Sunday best and the Queen's in long dresses of pastel hues. They were, by twos, Linda Close and Charles Lockmiller, Paula Parson and Douglas Thompson, Susan Clarke and Harry Wynn. The Queen's pathway was strewn with flowers by Mary Lou Michael, Karen Kimball and Lou Kessler.

Last came the Queen, Terry Tucker, attired in white, with her train carried by train bearers Sharon Amadio and Petie Parrish. When the court had assembled on the stage, the Queen knelt and was crowned by the King, where they presided over for the remainder of the festivities.

The Queen's throne and court was under the direction of Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Spooner, sixth grade teachers. The stage of the high school auditorium was decorated with palms and various colored hibiscus blossoms and floral arrangements of cut flowers. The arch over the throne was of palm branches, covered with yellow hibiscus blossoms.

The second grades, directed by Mrs. Close, Miss Binkley and Mrs. Lloyd, presented two songs and the singing game "How Do You Do My Partner." The first grades, directed by Mrs. Burry, Mrs. Lovell, Mrs. Henderson and Miss West performed three singing games. The third grades, under the direction of Mrs. Ruff, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. McClure sang two songs and did an original dance.

The junior high chorus sang "Sing For The Singing." The fourth grades, under the direction of Mrs. Bamford and Mrs. Christ, sang and presented an original dance worked out to the music of the "Nutcracker Suite." The fifth grades, under the direction of Mrs. Gove and Mrs. Lanier climaxed the program, first with a very snappy square dance, followed with the winding of the two Maypoles in unusual patterns; the cross-cross pattern followed by the basket-weave, and then finally ending with colorful spider web.

Many Helped
The success of the program, due to the help of many, including Miss Marian Najarian, who directed the program, the teachers, Principal Frank Stroh, and Mrs. Mosley, for use of the auditorium facilities, with-attendants; the janitors, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Nelms, for their help in putting up the Maypoles; Miss Gail Allison, who narrated the program to the high school boys who helped with the decorations; and to anyone else who helped in any way.
